Summary of Experience

Maurice has been with RSHP for over 20 years working on a wide range of schemes in the UK and internationally. He was made an Associate in 2007. With extensive experience of projects under construction, Maurice has been involved at all stages from competition and feasibility through to completion on site.

He has worked as project architect on a number of high profile buildings including Paddington Waterside, a headquarters building for Marks & Spencer in London and Broadwick House, Soho. From 2005, Maurice was one of the project architects on The Leadenhall Building, a 50-storey office building in the City of London, where he spent three years largely on site, overseeing its construction. Since the completion of The Leadenhall Building, Maurice continues to have a monitoring and compliance role on behalf of British Land for all incoming tenants to the building. He has recently completed the fit-out of Rogers Stirk Harbour + Partners' new home on Level 14 of The Leadenhall Building.

Maurice is currently working on a scheme for Clivedale Properties for a hotel and residential scheme in London's Hanover Square.

Alongside his work in London, Maurice has had a key role on designs for a number of schemes in Paris, Oslo, Tokyo, New York, Gifu, Rome and Dublin.
