Summary of Experience

Toby joined the practice in 1999 and became an associate in 2007. He is currently project architect of a new whisky distillery for The Macallan, due to open in 2017. This scheme provides a new centre that will reveal the processes of whisky production and welcome visitors, whilst remaining sensitive to the beautiful surrounding countryside.

Toby has worked on a variety of projects at different stages, including: a number of design competitions, one of which was the winning entry for The Macallan Distillery; feasibility studies for residential projects in London; and a successful planning application for Merano, a residential development on London's Albert Embankment. He has extensive on site experience, starting his career on Terminal 5, Heathrow where he was based within site offices alongside the full range of project consultants. He spent three years on the detailed design and construction stages of Tower Bridge House, an office building in London overlooking the Tower of London, where he was resident architect on site.

Toby played a leading role on the One Hyde Park residential project in Knightsbridge, London from its inception in 2005 to its completion in 2011. He led on the full design development for the facades systems, working closely with planners and manufacturers to develop a system which is structurally efficient, performs exceptionally in terms of energy and privacy and responds sensitively to the context of the Knightsbridge conservation area.
